

Establishment of the “Global Advisory Council” for the development of global collaboration and international communication

The GX Acceleration Agency is developing networks to strengthen global collaboration and communication as a “hub” for accumulating information on various initiatives related to the GX strategy.

We have established the “Global Advisory Council” to build networks with globally renowned experts and enhance international communications.

1. Background of the establishment of the Global Advisory Council

The GX Acceleration Agency, launched in July 2024, aims to realize GX investments from both public and private sectors, totaling over 150 trillion yen in the next 10 years. Our agency provides financial support, such as debt guarantees, and will administer the carbon pricing mechanism being introduced from FY2026.

Additionally, our agency, acting as a hub for accumulating information on GX initiatives by various stakeholders such as the industry, the financial sector, the government, local authorities, and research institutions, will engage in research, corporate collaboration, policy proposals, and communication with domestic and international stakeholders.

To further strengthen global networks and enhance international communication, we have established the Global Advisory Council featuring globally renowned experts with extensive knowledge in GX policies, sustainable finance, impact investing, and sustainability disclosure.

2. Outline of the Global Advisory Council

We have established the Global Advisory Council with the following members appointed as advisors to our agency.

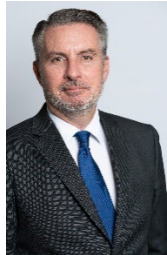

With their cooperation and advice on Japan's GX policy and our initiatives, we will incorporate expertise of council members and their respective organizations into our activities, enabling our agency to operate from a global perspective. We will also utilize their networks to strengthen international communication of Japan's GX policies and our activities.
